

Industry Update: Nanotechnology

Growth Potential Looms Large for Graphene Nanomaterials According to Lux Research.

Research Update

The performance advantages of Graphene are expected to grow the market from $196,000 in 2008 to $59 million in 2015. Further, there is additional potential to impact another $53 million in intermediate products.

Nanotech Wire, March 28, 2009

Article: <http://www.nanotechwire.com/news.asp?nid=7628&ntid=116&pg=1>

Researchers look to make "messy" nanotech production "clean and green."

Researchers at the University of Oregon are seeking to utilize "green chemistry" techniques to reduce or eliminate hazardous substances and conserve energy used during nanotech manufacturing.

New York Times, April 13, 2009

Article: <http://www.nytimes.com/gwire/2009/04/13/13greenwire-nows-the-time--to-make-this-stuff-clean-and-gr-10512.html>

Reaction of European Micro, Nanotechnology and Materials Industry to the Economic Crisis

A survey of 2,300 enterprises and institutes involved in nanotechnology completed by IVAM Research in February revealed that almost 70% of the companies intend to intensify their efforts to acquire new customers. Further, almost 65% of the companies want to develop new business fields.

Nanowerk News, April 14, 2009

Article: <http://www.nanowerk.com/news/newsid=10073.php>

Victory Partners Team:

R. Todd Lazenby

Tom Lindholm

Tony Neveling

Derrick Reagins

Connor Ambrose

Bradley Hickman

Tracey Williams

Colin McConnell

Julie Krimm

To remove your name from our mailing list, please email Bradley@victorypartnersllc.com

Questions or Comments? Please visit our website at www.victorypartnersllc.com or call (214) 981-7220